

eFUEL EFN Corp. Subsidiary I-NEX Worldwide applies for Super 8(a) Status as a Federal Government Contractor

TAMPA, FL--(MARKET WIRE)--March 26, 2009 -- eFUEL EFN, Corp. (Pink: EFUL), owner and developer of revenue-generating, internet-based assets, proudly announced today that its subsidiary I-NEX Worldwide has entered into a Federal registration and approval for I-NEX to become a preferred provider with Super 8(a) exemption status for Federal non-bid contracts relating to background checks, verifications of government employee applicants, as well as, drug-testing and testing kits. eFUEL EFN, Corp. is a 49% owner of I-NEX Worldwide.

Earning Super 8a status from the Small Business Administration/general Services Administration is very significant to I-NEX as it will advantageously position the company with respect to receiving GSA contracts. Joseph P. Cillo, President of eFUEL EFN, Corp. says, "We have submitted our filings and have successfully responded to the government's comments, as is standard procedure, and we hope to achieve the Super 8(a) status in the near future."

The GSA serves as direct contractor for all vendor services provided to the Department of Homeland Security, the Veterans Administration, the Department of Defense, the Department of Energy, as well as, all other U.S. Federal Government agencies. In fact, the GSA is widely known as the largest purchaser of products and service in the world. eFUEL/I-NEX Worldwide expects it will soon be positioned as the only Super 8(a) provider of employee background verification service to the GSA. The GSA designates up to 23% of its massive multi-billion dollar budget specifically for small businesses, with minority-owned businesses receiving preference, and Super 8(a) exempt businesses having the highest priority.

The United States government may directly outsource non-inherently governmental services (or functions) to Super 8(a) enterprises without study or cost comparison. A Super 8(a) exempt status is extremely beneficial to any Company, as businesses exempt under this classification receive contracts without having to engage in bidding processes that favor vendors who submit the lowest cost bids. This exemption program allows socially disadvantaged businesses (SDB) to receive contracts that only the largest companies coming in at the lowest price would receive otherwise.
